New Orleans QSR Crime Statistics

Jon Groussman, President & Chief Operating Officer, CAP Index • Basia Pietrawska, Vice President, Crime Intelligence Analysis, CAP Index • Steve Longo, Vice President, Business Development, CAP Index

CAP Index, one of the world's leading companies in crime forecasting, will present mapping and crime statistics for restaurants in the greater metropolitan New Orleans area. Get insight into the causes of crime in the area, what lies ahead, and how to use this information to better protect your stores and employees.

Using Technology to Defend Against Theft and Robbery

Shaun Jackson, Director of Risk Management, El Pollo Loco

El Pollo Loco restaurants face many of the same challenges as other similar establishments, including employee theft and fraud. With managed video as a service, they've reduced the number of threat and robbery incidents, as well as other security-related issues. The session explains how the unique service is changing the way they manage loss prevention and other aspects of their business.

Open Forum: Restaurant Security Practices

Kevin McMenimen, COO, LP Magazine

A lively open discussion on numerous topics affecting the security of your restaurants. The moderated session may include topics such as food delivery procedures, parking lot security, dealing with cash, CCTV practices, team alerts and much, more. You pick the topics, and a group of your peers shares their ideas, best practices and real-life case scenarios.

Law Enforcement and Government Partnerships

Orleans Parish District Attorney Office • New Orleans Police Department • New Orleans Office of the Mayor

A Q&A with local and federal law enforcement agencies and government officials to create better partnerships. Learn and comment on what programs are already in place and what improvements all sides can make to create even stronger synergies.

Legal Issues Facing the Restaurant Industry

How do the latest laws on topics such as conceal-carry and labor issues effect your business and your customers? Discuss up-to-date rules, practices and procedures and how best to implement them into your strategic planning.
